

Privacy Policy

The Information that This Site Collects

Websites can obtain two kinds of information about you: Anonymous Information and Personally Identifiable Information.

Anonymous Information includes any data the site collects about each visit to the site. For example, when you visit a website, that site can detect what kind of browser you are using to view the site, your screen resolution, and your IP address. Your IP address is a unique number which your Internet Service Provider or your network administrator has assigned to your computer so that it can talk to other computers. Often IP addresses change, and by themselves are not directly associated with the person actually visiting the website. This information helps website owners and creators make their sites work better, improving your internet experience.

Personally Identifiable Information is any information that identifies you, or the actual person visiting the site. Such information includes name, email address, and your telephone number. This site will only collect Personally Identifiable Information with your permission and only that which you, the visitor, provide.

DC LABS LLC or AppFX does not sell, provide, or otherwise distribute any Personally Identifiable Information collected from its sites to outside companies without your permission or except as noted within this Privacy Notice.

Third Party Websites

You may find links, connections, or other references to websites not owned or controlled by DC LABS LLC or AppFX. These are called third party websites. DC LABS LLC or AppFX is not responsible for the privacy practices, actions, or content of such third party websites or their owners. By including, linking to, or any way referring to any third party website, DC LABS LLC or AppFX does not imply or express approval or endorsement of those sites, their actions, content, products, opinions, or services.

Please use your best judgment when using the internet and before providing any Personally Identifiable Information to anyone or any website. We encourage you and your family to review the usage, privacy, and other policies of all sites that you visit.

Security

The security of information exchanged with this site is very important to us, and we take reasonable measures to help protect information under our control from loss, misuse, and/or alteration. However, no data transmission can be guaranteed to be 100% error-free or secure. While we work to protect your Personally Identifiable Information, DC LABS LLC or AppFX cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information you transmit to us or through our sites, services, or tools. Please note that email is not normally a secure method to transmit data and you should use caution when sending sensitive information via email. It is your responsibility to protect passwords, login names, and other access information you use when visiting this site. We encourage you to learn and use the security tools available to you from your computer, browser, and software and internet providers.

Children

This site is not intended for use by children under the age of 13, and will not knowingly collect information from visitors under the age of 13. We encourage parents and guardians to discuss and supervise all internet use by their children. By visiting this site, each visitor declares that they are 13 years or older, and as applicable, has the permission of their parent or guardian to use the internet and visit this site.

Legal Notice

Use of this site is subject to our Legal Notice.

User's Agreement

Use of this site and all products and services are subject to the terms and conditions of the User's Agreement.

Changes

Changes to this Privacy Notice will be posted on this site.

Contacting Us

Please contact us if you have any comments, questions, or concerns about this Privacy Notice or this site.